Pinehurst Social News

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Pinehurst, N. C., April 8.—Surely Japan, famed for its floral beauty, cannot be more entrancing than the village radiant with the luxuriant wisteria, now at its best, and the first of a wealth of blooms which make April here a dreamland paradise of color, which more and more are enjoying each year.

Socially the week has been one of many dinners, with interest centered in the annual "golfers' stag" at the Holly Inn, enjoyed by a congenial group of intimates and annual sojourners, including A. J. Greener, H. C. Fowner, W. C. Fowner, Jr., and J. B. Fowner, of Pittsburgh; C. L. Becker, of Boston; L. D. Pierce, of Rochester; E. E. Pierce, of New York; J. D. Ford, of Rye; J. R. Mitchell, of New York; S. D. Wyatt, of Pon du Lac; W. H. Rathbone, of Detroit; C. H. Giffney, of Atlanta; H. E. Avery, of Detroit; E. A. Milliken, of Indianapolis; Mason Evans and J. B. Kennedy, of Youngstown; W. T. Stall, of Brockton; Dr. T. Howard Knight, of Philadelphia, and Dr. H. C. Perkins, of New York, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Simons, of New York, gave a supper at the "Lift-the-Latch" log cabin, at Pinehurst, for the younger set, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Heat and Miss Eleanor Heat, of Lathrop, entertained Mrs. J. Raymond Price, Miss Mary Fowner and Miss Louise Elkins, all of Pittsburgh, at the Carolina, while J. R. Mitchell, of New York, was host at a Club Cabin supper.

An evening much enjoyed was an informal talk on Klondike experiences by T. S. Lippy, of Seattle, at the Inn; a thrilling relation of the hardships, perils and privations during the Glacier Creek gold "stampede" of '86.

Among outdoor recreations was a booby handicap for prizes contributed by Miss Mary Fowner, of Pittsburgh, in which her clubmate, Miss Louise Elkins, was first, and Mrs. William West, of Philadelphia; Miss Myra B. Helmer, of Chicago, and Miss Ethel Cheek, of New York, were second; Mrs. West winning the play-off.

The presence of Commander Saito, of the Japanese navy, who spent the week here studying aviation, and Beachey and the Curtiss biplane into special prominence, and golf, tennis and shooting have rounded out perfect days.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Wood, of Richmond, return for a brief visit.

Durham Social News

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Durham, N. C., April 8.—The largest event of the week was the opening of the Old Ladies' Home on Friday for inspection. The beautiful structure was erected by the King's Daughters, who held an informal reception throughout the day, welcoming hundreds of people who called to see the interior of the building and to congratulate the Daughters on that auspicious day. For years the King's Daughters have labored faithfully to raise the means with which to build the home, most of the money coming in small sums each week. When the building was completed and paid for the women found that their work had just begun, for they had to furnish it and there were various other demands for money. Many friends came to their relief, and asked the privilege to furnish many of the necessities and comforts to loved ones, or simply for the sake of the old women, until most of the rooms were furnished. The opening day was also observed as a day of improvement, and is local in nature, and many useful articles were received then. The building is a very handsome structure, with all modern improvements, and is located in one of the most desirable residential sections of the city. The lot was donated by B. L. Duke.

The Junior pupils of Miss Mary Holeman gave a very delightful recital at her studio on Wednesday afternoon. The program consisted of both instrumental and vocal selections, which was well rendered by the little folks. At the same time Miss Eleanor Green gave an exhibit of china painting, the work of her pupils, which was very much admired.

A beautiful affair of Thursday evening was the reception at which Professor and Mrs. Gilmore Ward Bryant entertained the trustees of the Conservatory of Music, and a number of other guests in the parlors of the conservatory. The rooms were very attractive with lovely plants and cut flowers. Music was the order of the evening. Miss Mary Duke rendered several solos that were heard with delight. Dr. M. T. Adkins, Mrs. Bryant and Edgar Howerton also lent the charm of their voices to the occasion. The guests were James H. Southgate, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Cheek, Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Duke, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Foushee, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Toms, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Willy, Captain and Mrs. E. J. Parrish, W. A. Erwin, Professor and Mrs. A. H. Merritt, trustees; Mr. and Mrs. T. Adkins, Rev. and Mrs. M. Bradshaw, Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Layburn, Professor and Mrs. Gates, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Flowers, F. A. Ogburn, J. E. Pears, Miss Irene Pegram, Angler Duke, Mr. Meacham, Miss Elizabeth Smith, of Goldsboro; Miss Mary Duke, Miss Anna Branson, Mrs. J. C. Angler, Mrs. M. Hutchison, Miss Lucy Stokes, Miss Gladys Taliaferro, Miss Lily Duke, Mrs. Karnes, Richard Taliaferro and Mr. Karnes.

Mrs. Marion King is on a visit to her parents at Norfolk, Va.

Paul Elliot, who has issued invitations to the marriage of his daughter, Maude, to Henry Pickett, of Montreal, Canada, to take place on the 12th of April.

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Tyree, of Raleigh, have been the guests of relatives in the city for several days. Rev. Mr. Tyree was formerly pastor of the First Baptist Church, and has many friends who were delighted to see him and his wife.

The Civic League has planned great work for the spring months to make Durham more beautiful, and the various committees are now at work looking after the various jobs. They have been cleared of all rubbish and many of them will be sodded and laid off in attractive flower beds.
